

As a teacher, sooner or later
you'll need a Master's degree...

*here's a way
to make it sooner.*

Introducing a Master's degree program that recognizes you can't put the rest of your life on hold while you study.

No standardized test. Classes one night a week. No summer classes.

The Johnson & Wales University two-year M.Ed. program for teachers is just what you need to maximize your skills and maximize your potential – and it fulfills your professional development requirements.
